

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

On the Pacific front, MacArthur's forces have attacked the island of Leyte which will become a base for the next move against the Japanese. Admiral Nimitz's air-craft carriers are continuing to bombard Japanese bases.

Another offensive has been launched on the Eastern front according to German reports. This is a two-pronged drive, one toward Intersburg, the other toward Tilsit. On the Arctic front, the Russians have advanced to the Norwegian border. Russian troops are also on the Czechoslovakian border.

British and Canadian forces are intent upon opening the port of Antwerp on the Western front. The Third Army is on the offensive near Nancy.

In Greece, the Germans are fleeing as the Allies chase them from the Cyclades group. In Italy, the Eighth Army is occupying Cervia.

This society will correspond to the Senior's Phoenix Society. Eventually, the group hopes to be eligible for membership in the national fraternity, Alpha Lambda Delta.

Miss Mary Thomas Maxwell is faculty advisor for the group and Jane Beucham is chairman.

Drive Sets $2200 Goal For GSCW

The GSCW student body has been assigned the goal of $100 for the United War Fund Drive, which was opened on the campus Monday. Faculty assessments were set at $1200.

Dr. Amanda Johnson is chairman of the drive for GSCW. She will be assisted by Martha Clark and Sally Rudolph, who are co-chairmen of the World Student Service Fund for the College. The World Student Service Fund is included in the United War Fund Drive.

Students and teachers representing GSCW attended the dinner last Monday night in the College Cafeteria. Over seventy people, who are working with the drive were present. Agencies represented were GMC, the WAVES, Boy Scouts, Community Chest, and the Baldwin County Planning Board.

Honor guests included E. B. Embrey, state chairman; Eugene Baker, executive director; and Lui Iang-Mo, representative of China. These three delivered short speeches. Mr. Lui delivered his main address later at a mass meeting in the Court House.

Half Of Quarter Over:
Half Of Work Completed?

Next week will find us at the turning point of Fall quarter. We'll have finished six weeks of study. Half of our time is gone. Has yours been well spent? Do you feel that you are ready to start on the final stretch? Have you laid the foundation that is so necessary in any course of study?

Stop and think a minute. If you have been really in earnest for the past six weeks you very likely don't have to go into a huddle with your conscience. But if there's a little nagging doubt that you've been "up to par," then it's time to settle up, or down, if you prefer it that way.

There's not much you can do now about the time that's already gone. You can do something about the next six weeks though. Make up for lost time now.

It Is Necessary For You To Vote

The challenge of helping make a world free faces Americans today as we endeavor to develop the spirit of freedom in all countries. For these countries which wish to have liberty and freedom as a basis, the United States may well become an example to follow. Our citizens and their actions, our country and its policies will stand as symbols for the true way of freedom to many countries.

What privileges or responsibilities of Americans could be more symbolic for other peoples than would be our suffrage? Our reaction to this responsibility of voting might be used to some extent to determine the power of our system of government.

The coming of the general election in November will offer the first opportunity for the 18-21 year old voters to accept the responsibility of voting for a president of our country. We, as college women, must accept the responsibility of voting in this election for the candidate which most nearly fills our standards for chief executive of our country.

In our country we have solved many of the problems of war, but still unsolved are the endless number of questions concerning the peace for which we are now striving. Our next president will in a large way guide the method of establishing the peace for America.

For a two-fold purpose should we vote in this election. First, if we are to exemplify a country of democracy, a country of equality, we must protect that basis of equality, the vote, by using it. Second, we must vote as intelligent citizens if we are to have an intelligent government. Voting is an individual responsibility entirely.

Vote November 7. Vote by absentee ballot if necessary.

A Freshman Looks
At A GSCW Tradition

Along with the rising bell could be heard through the freshman dormitories shouts of joy because this was the day of the new adventure—the traditional GSCW Annual Hike. We asked again, as we had for weeks, "What will it be like? Who's going to win the hike?" Later in the day another question arose, "Is it going to rain?"

The sky put on its worst dress of gray and frowned upon all. As the jelly little raindrops poured down to earth they were met by sighs and groans from all the Jessies and others concerned. We were a long way from being beaten.

After lunch we hiked from building to building, receiving fruit, candy, peanuts and Coca-Cola at the various food stations which were controlled by seniors. With food in hand we marched into the auditorium for the most eventful of all events, the plays.

Competition was heavy, and that fact made it impossible to predict who might win. The old saying, "may the best man win" came in handy. It seems as though the best ones were the seniors of Atkinson, Bell B, and Bell Hall.

To top the day off, basketball games between the faculty and seniors were played after supper. Incidentally, the seniors defeated the former.

Should Marriages Be Delayed
Until Peace? Students Say No!

With the husbands here and yon with other of Uncle Sam's boys, our married population is greatly increased this year. Here they are—either doing something until he gets back or still working for that long sought after degree.

They've all got big plans for the future and the large majority when asked "should a couple planning marriage wait until after the war?" just issued a sigh and said "definitely not!"

Our seniors hold the majority of the wedded girls. There is Eugenia Hollingsworth Wilson, wife of Lt. Jean Wilson, paratrooper, now somewhere on the way somewhere. They were married this June in Tennessee. Eugenia said, "Jean couldn't get to Georgia so we carried the wedding to him in Tennessee."

Madeline Scott evidently liked the name Scott because on August 11, she became Mrs. Madeline Scott Scott. Morgan is a Navy doctor intern now in New Orleans. She met him this summer at the University of Alabama where she was in summer school.

Another senior bride is Eula Mae Morgan McGraw, wife of Lt. Roy A. McGraw, Marine Air Corp, South Pacific. Theirs was a college romance because they were at West Georgia College together.

Reba Nell Jordan Johnson is the wife of a sailor. She and Martin L. were married June 17 in Brooklyn, and 'twas there she spent the rest of the summer. In September, she came back to get that degree.

Corp. Roy Grimsley's wife is also one of the Atkinson girls, nee Lydia Sheppard. This was another budding romance of high school days that blossomed on. He's in Florida now waiting for Lydia to finish in December and hurry home!

Ruth Walker Barwick was married way back in May. Pfc. Gene from Cairo, Georgia, is now in the Army stationed in Alabama. Her wedding coach was in keeping with the time—she rode to the chapel in a jeep.

Two of our freshmen proudly wear the Mrs. before their names. Mrs. Gloria Linder Bell has been Mrs. since junior year in high school. This was one of those elopements kept secret for a year. Now she's just waiting for that Army husband to come back from England.

Valentine day in 1942 was Mary Ann Montgomery's wedding day. This was also a high school romance in Long Beach, California. Bob is now in the Air Corps in New Mexico, and Mary Ann and one one and a half year old Ronnie are at GSCW. Mary Ann is a freshman and Ronnie is in nursery school.

Betty Hargrove has been married since November, 1941. Charles is in the Marines, and came home this summer after quite a while overseas. Though he'd had many experiences "he hadn't changed at all." Betty thinks that girls should wait until after the war to get married, but she said, "I was married before Pearl Harbor."

Independence Day, 1942, was the date of Jean Chesnut's marriage to Lieut. John Rook, infantry. Theirs was a military wedding. John is from Rhode Island and Jean is from Jacksonville, Florida. From the time of their marriage until May, 1944, when John went overseas, they lived, she said, "in Texas, Arizona, Mississippi—almost everywhere."

There were four more weddings of interest this summer. July 23 was the date for Mae Jones and V. H. Hooks, Jr. In civilian life he's an undertaker, but right now he's in Savannah in the Coast Guard.

Jeanne Allen and Ralph D. Young, S2/c of the Navy, were married in New York on July 11. This was a high school romance, too, when Jeanne was in school in Buffalo.

Willene Jones became the wife of Lt. James Swinson on August 12. He's in the Army Air Corp in Italy, now.

Another Navy wife is Doris Beccus McDonald, wife of Ensign Paul McDonald. They were married September 12 in Social Circle. Paul is from Fitzgerald.

"Understand, I got nothing against getting educated, but it just looks like there ought to be an easier way to do it."

Physical Fitness Cup
Captured By Bell B

By scoring 115 points, 27 above their nearest opponent, Bell B captured the title of the "Most Physically Fit dormitory," and was awarded the cup, on the annual Physical Fitness Day, held October 21.

Under the leadership of Betty Dockery, dormitory manager, Bell B won the finals in badminton, horse shoes and shuffleboard; they also participated in the finals of table tennis, volley ball and basketball.

Bell B won first place in publicity, and fourth in bond sale. Atkinson was second place winner in the day's activities, receiving 88 points and topping all other dormitories in the purchase of bonds. They were second in publicity.

The winner of third place was the combination of Beeson-Terrell proper. These dormitories won 86 points, were third in publicity and second in the sale of War Bonds.

The other dormitories in order of rank as winners are: Bell Hall—57 points. Terrell B—32 points. Terrell A—19 points. Town Girls and Miller—9 points. The total amount bought in bonds and stamps was $2,848.30.

Omicron Pi Kappas
To Select Members

The group, presently consisting of thirteen members, is now working on the suggestions made for the development of the home economics department. As soon as the new members are installed, plans for the new year will be formulated. The next meeting will be held Thursday, October 26, at the home of Dr. Jessie McVey.

Mr. Liu is a former Chinese Army officer and his magnetic personality and delightful sense of humor held all spell bound as he brought a new conception of the personality, great courage and determination of the Chinese people.

"Who would have thought that an incident somewhere in Manchuria way back in 1931 would today be bringing tears and misery to homes in America," he said. His accusations against isolationists, then were that "they sent missionaries to teach Chinese that 'we are our brother's keepers'—yet did not believe it themselves. It took the proof of American blood shed at Pearl Harbor to finally show them that we are our brother's keeper."

Mr. Liu, who is speaking for the War Fund Drive gave the answer to "How to help mankind in one easy lesson." That is, by giving to the War Fund Drive.

He closed his speech with a Chinese marching song that showed his confidence and that of his people that we are finally "on the road to victory, a lasting peace and a better world."
